The Washington Post

The Washington Post

Aug. 7, 2019

Democracy Dies in Darkness

Edition: U.S. & World | Regional

In the News Boy Scouts Anthem assault Galveston police Dayton N.Y. Times Joaquin Castro

Mass Shootings in America

Trump to face skeptiches in their protests in El Paso, Daytons shooters often

The open repudiation of a visiting president in the aftermath of a mass tragedy was striking as a growing chorus of critics made clear that President Trump would not be universally welcome.

By Toluse Olorunnipa, Arelis R. Hernández, John Wagner and Tim Craig

 Trump's Latino supporters say they're sticking with him snooters ofter slip through the cracks

Politicians have made "red flags" such as mental illness, violent crimes or domestic attacks a priority for identifying people who should not have guns.

By Kevin Sullivan, Valerie Strauss and Emily Davies

A scene in El Paso, Tex. (Ivan Pierre Aguirre/EPA-EFE/REX)

A scene in Dayton, Ohio. (AP photo)

Wisual Story

Two cities united in a tragedy uniquely American

The mass shootings in less than 24 hours connect the communities in Texas and Ohio in grief and anger.

By Reis Thebault, Karly Domb Sadof, Nick Kirkpatrick and Lucio Villa

NRA discussed purchasing luxury mansion for its chief executive to use, documents show

The origins of the idea to buy the mansion, its proposed purpose and the reason the deal never went through are being fiercely disputed by the NRA and its longtime ad firm, Ackerman McQueen.

By Carol D. Leonnig and Beth Reinhard

 Renewed calls for gun control test a divided NRA

Democrats turn to emotional language on gun issues

Democrats once afraid of alienating firearms owners are now pushing sweeping policies.

By Sean Sullivan

- Democrats are cursing inaction on guns literally
- GOP congressman from Dayton backs new gun limits

Why China is playing the long game in its trade battle with the U.S.

Play the latest episode of Post Reports, the premier daily podcast from The Washington Post.

Listen 29:16

| Add to Apple Podcasts, Google Podcasts, Stitcher

The Washington Post

Others cover stories. We uncover them.

Limited time offer: Get unlimited digital access for less than $1/week.

Try 1 month for $1

Send me this offer

Already a subscriber? Sign in

Opinions

Hispanics in America are under attack

By 39 Latino leaders

Trump, still in search of a China strategy

Editorial Board

We worked to defeat the Islamic State. White nationalist terrorism is an equal threat.

By John R. Allen and Brett McGurk

Suddenly we're the country the rest of the world is warning about

By Dana Milbank

You're

If

probably more freaked out about the world than you should be

By Abigail Marsh

conservatives want to keep guns, they need to find a way to stop mass shootings

By Megan McArdle

More Top Stories

Today's WorldView Analysis

Trump and Xi lock horns — and drag the world with them

The standoff between Washington and Beijing could have dark implications for the global economy.

By Ishaan Tharoor • 2 hours ago

 Defense secretary wants to deliver on goal of outpacing China. Can he do it?

The Iowa State Fair can make — or break — a presidential candidate

A gaffe at the 11-day event that begins this week in Des Moines can define a politician. Just ask Mitt Romney. Or Joe Biden.

By Holly Bailey

Rep. Joaquin Castro tweeted the names of top Trump donors. Republicans say it will 'encourage violence.'

"Their contributions are fueling a campaign of hate that labels Hispanic immigrants as invaders," the Texas Democrat said. The names are public record.

By Michael Brice-Saddler

 Mitch McConnell's campaign decries protest outside his Louisville home

Trump, RNC sue to block Calif. law seeking president's tax returns

The measure, signed late last month by Gov. Gavin Newsom, requires presidential and gubernatorial candidates to disclose tax returns to qualify for the primary ballot.

By John Wagner

Retropolis The Past, Rediscovered

Toni Morrison, the Nobel Prize, a long staircase and the king who rescued her

In 1993, teetering on Manolo Blahnik heels, author Toni Morrison descended marble steps on the arm of King Carl XVI Gustaf of Sweden to accept the Nobel Prize in Literature.

By Gillian Brockell

 Nobel laureate who transfigured American literature dies at 88

Man assaulted boy, 13, because he was 'disrespecting the national anthem,' witness says

A Montana man allegedly slammed the child's head to the ground at a county fair because he didn't remove his hat as the song began, a witness told news outlets. The child's skull was fractured, and the man was arrested.

By Michael Brice-Saddler

Editors' Picks

TV Review Voraciously Perspective

BH90210' brieflyith less sugar Phodsparties are soulverges on a proforbiders, crispsandhing spectacles of statement about rumbles let the infinite description are soulverged are soulverg

Fox's miniseries is a cheesy metatake on reboots, as the cast considers an official reunion.

By Hank Stuever

Find yourself falling even more in love with these beloved, rustic desserts.

By Marcy Goldman

There isn't enough chlorine or booze in the world to make some of us feel good about the pool party.

By Robin Givhan

More Editors' Picks

Visual Stories

In Sight

Graphic •

(Nuria Lopez Torres)

Meet the mixedgender 'muxes' of southern Mexico (Kate Rabinowitz and Shelly Tan/The Post)

Few candidates have loyal small-dollar donor bases

Graphic 🔾

Visual story

(The Washington Post)

More and deadlier: Mass shooting trends in America (Michael Robinson Chavez/The Post)

Photos from Dayton and El Paso illustrate the grim routine of mass shootings

Photos

Story •

(John Minchillo / AP)

The scene after several killed in a Dayton, Ohio, nightlife area (Emilienne Malfatto)

Yazidi women raped as ISIS slaves face brutal homecoming choice: Give up their child or stay away

Politics

World

National

Health & Science

Gun violence in America prompts a growing list of countries to issue travel warnings Officers on horseback led a black suspect through the streets by rope. The chief apologized. Trump scheduled to headline fundraisers in the Hamptons, where tickets run as high as $250,000 Defense secretary wants to deliver on the goal of outpacing China. Can he

Venezuelans brace for more hardship after Trump stiffens sanctions El Paso shooting victims: Who they were

Protesters call for gun reform, end to whitesupremacist rhetoric after deadly violence

Perspective
'Welcome to

USDA science agencies' relocation may have violated law, inspector general report says

TI-!--I- 00 FO

PostEverything

Perspective Trump just blamed the El Paso shooting victims for their own

deaths

Perspective
This trade war will get out of control

Perspective
The Supreme Court's illiberal legacy

D.C., Md. & Va.

'It's going to be a crisis': D.C. may be left without a halfway house for men returning from federal prison Heavy storms north of downtown D.C. exit this evening. Even better odds of storms Wednesday.

Sports

Wayne Rooney is leaving D.C. after this season; United is moving to fill void

Nats get a batterypowered win as Kurt Suzuki, Aníbal Sánchez are too much for Giants

Lifestyle

Sean Hannity's solution to mass shootings:
More guns in schools and shopping centers

Fresh tomatoes are the stars of this breadfilled, comforting and speedy stew Perspective How Never-

Montgomery County hard hit

TV and radio listings: August

Common Sense Media shares

Arts

Technology

Business & Real Estate

Obituaries

Perspective
Toni Morrison not only remade American literature, she challenged us to resist the tenacity of racism

The Bookstagrammers
and BookTubers changing the way we read

Review
'The Doll Factory' is a guilty pleasure wrapped around a provocative history lesson

In wake of shootings, Congress summons 8chan owner to testify

Google and Amazon list gun accessories for sale, in apparent violation of their own policies

Trump accuses Google of anticonservative bias without providing evidence

Analysis

St. Louis Fed chief James
Bullard says more rate cuts 'may be desirable' as Trump's trade war escalates

Disney
earnings fall short, and the company points the finger at its acquisition of Fox

Perspective
Can Equifax's
credit monitoring offer be trusted?

Toni Morrison, Nobel laureate who transfigured American literature, dies at 88

Dorothy Olsen, daring aviatrix with the WASPs during World War II, dies at 103

Cliff Branch, gridiron star with champion Raiders, dies at 71

Nuon Chea, Khmer Rouge's infamous 'Brother

t a 9

washingtonpost.com © 1996-2019 The Washington Post

Subscribe

Sign In

Terms of Use

Get Us

Contact Us

About Us

Policies and Standards Digital Products Terms of

Sale

Print Products Terms of

Sale

Terms of Service Privacy Policy

Submissions and Discussion Policy
RSS Terms of Service

Ad Choices

Home Delivery
Digital Subscription
Gift Subscriptions
Mobile & Apps

Newsletters & Alerts Washington Post Live Reprints & Permissions

Post Store Photo Store e-Replica Help

Reader Representative

Advertise

News Service & Syndicate

Contact Us

In the Community

Careers PostPoints

Newspaper in Education

Today's Paper WP BrandStudio

Events